Benjamin G. Klophaus Receives 2008 Bishop Grutka Award

The LPSCU is pleased to announce that Benjamin G. Klophaus of Pipersville, Pennsylvania, is the 2008 recipient of our Bishop Andrew G. Grutka Young Adult Ministry Award.

The Bishop Grutka Award was established at our 37th National Convention held in Merrillville, Indiana, on August 13-16, 2000. This special award is given in memory of Bishop Grutka, who was an outstanding Slovak leader and the founding bishop of the Diocese of Gary, Indiana. Through this award, the LPSCU seeks to encourage and recognize young adult members who are exceptional in their involvement with organizations and activities which promote pride in our Slovak heritage.

Benjamin is an active member of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church in Doylestown, Pennsylvania, where he was an altar server for five years. During the last three summers, he has helped at his church by performing building maintenance, lawn and garden maintenance, and painting. He is an Eagle Scout and a recent honors graduate of Lansdale Catholic High School in Lansdale, Pennsylvania, where he excelled in academics and extracurricular activities. Currently, he is a freshman at The Smeal College of Business at Penn State University, University Park, Pennsylvania.

Benjamin was also honored as our 2008 Youth Achievement Award winner. An article detailing that honor was featured in the July/August 2008 Zornicka on page 8. The National Fraternal Congress of America, the trade association of America’s fraternal benefit societies, also named Benjamin a “Fraternal MVP” (Most Valuable Participant) for the week of June 23, 2008. His NFCA honor appeared in the September/October 2008 Zornicka on page 9.

Benjamin and his brother, Michael, are members of LPSCU Branch 38 in Allentown, Pennsylvania, where his aunt, Cecilia B. Gaughan, is president and secretary. He is the son of Monica and Gary Klophaus of Pipersville.

The LPSCU congratulates Benjamin on his outstanding service and dedication to his parish community. He is a remarkable young man and most deserving of the Bishop Grutka Award. We wish him continued success in his educational endeavors at Penn State University.

Traditionally known as the Latter Days of Advent, December 17 to 23 marks a change in the tone of the Advent season as the days of Christmas come closer. During these special days, we call on Jesus with titles that speak of mystery of the Incarnation (“taking on flesh”). This is what we celebrate on Christmas: that our Divine Lord took on human flesh and was born as one of us, to save us from sin and death. As we know, Jesus was born in poverty and became one with the poor and the lonely, with the saint as well as with the sinner. During these final days of the Advent season, in preparation for Christmas, we are given unique opportunities to grow in holiness by praying what are known as the “O Antiphons.”

The “O Antiphons” come at the end of Advent to tie together the prophetic hopes of a people who waited not three or four weeks for the coming of the Lord, but for centuries. These antiphons are the substance of the beautiful Advent hymn, “O Come, O Come Emmanuel.” The “O Antiphons” lead us up to the feast of Christmas. They are special prayers to Jesus which call him by certain names: O Wisdom, O Lord, O Root of Jesse, O Key of David, O Radiant Dawn, O King of Nations, O Emmanuel.

These antiphons have been sung since the 6th century as antiphons before the Magnificat at Vespers (Evening Prayer). They bring together ancient Hebrew prophecies about the coming of the Messiah. In a sense, these prayers become a very important pre-Christmas “wish-list.” When we pray them, we ask for: instruction in the way of prudence; redemption; deliverance; the release of prisoners from the prison-house of sin; enlightenment; and for salvation. It is interesting to note that contained within themselves, these “O Antiphons” reveal an answer to the very petitions they embody. Written out together across a page in Latin and in reverse order, the first antiphon is identified very closely with the Word of God. Openness to divine Wisdom will help us grow in understanding the will of God in our daily lives and how we are called to act with prudence in living in a way that is truly pleasing to God.

1. “O Sacred Lord of ancient Israel, who showed yourself to Moses in the burning bush on Sinai mountain; Come, stretch out your mighty hand to set us free.” This antiphon reminds us that God has continually revealed himself to his people and, in history, has interacted with his people. The greatest act of revelation is the coming of Jesus Christ, to be our Savior. The Son of God stretched out his mighty arm from heaven and fully embraced a humanity like our own, making it his own. It is Jesus who would stretch out his arms on the cross so as to free us from sin and death. During the Advent season, one of the best ways that we can experience freedom from our sins is to participate in the Sacrament of Reconciliation or Confession.

3. “O Root of Jesse, you have been raised up as a sign for all peoples; kings stand silent in your presence; the nations bow down in worship before you; Come, let nothing keep you from coming to our aid.” Jesus, coming from the lineage of Jesse (the father of King David), is the branch that buds forth with life. Jesus is the flower of Israel for all to see. He is the sign of salvation for all peoples. During this time of Advent, we seek to be renewed in our commitment to live the new life that was given to us at Baptism. Through Baptism, we have become branches intimately connected to Jesus, the Vine, and we are called to bear fruit for the Kingdom by faithfully living and sharing the Gospel message.

4. “O Key of David, O Royal Power of Israel, controlling at your will the gate of heaven; Come break down the prison walls of death for those who dwell in darkness and in the shadow of death, and lead your captive people to freedom.” Prior to the coming of Jesus, men and women did not have access to the Kingdom of Heaven. Jesus, through his death and resurrection, has unlocked the gates of heaven. His cross becomes the key which unlocks the heavenly portal. This Advent, we can ask Jesus to open the heavenly realm to us by helping us to daily grow in the life of holiness. We pray daily that Jesus would set us free from whatever keeps us from following him.

5. “O Radiant Dawn, splendor of eternal light, sun of justice; Come, shine on those who dwell in darkness and the shadow of death.” From the darkness of nothingness, God, at the very dawn of creation, said: “Let there be light!” (Genesis continued on page 24
LPSCU Partners with Enterprise Rent-A-Car

The LPSCU is pleased to announce a preferred partnership with the largest car rental company, Enterprise Rent-A-Car! With more than 6,500 locations throughout the U.S., Enterprise is truly a neighborhood company and is within approximately 15 minutes of 90% of the U.S. population, making them an obvious choice for us for local rental needs. LPSCU employees/members will receive contracted rates at all non-airport Enterprise locations in Northeast and Central Pennsylvania. In addition to becoming our primary home city vendor, Enterprise will serve as our secondary airport vendor. Enterprise has agreed to provide us with free pick up and return service (delivery where available) at the start and end of all our rentals.

The Enterprise rental program was designed to give the LPSCU an alternative to employees/members utilizing their personal vehicles for travel for personal and/or business purposes. Using a rental vehicle can be less expensive than reimbursing per mile. In addition to cost and liability savings, our employees/members will have the peace of mind of a 24-hour roadside assistance program, newer model vehicles with current safety features, and the ability to rent from a convenient neighborhood location rather than depreciating their personal vehicle. In addition, this program can be utilized when your vehicle is in for repairs.

There are many ways to make reservations for an Enterprise vehicle. By phone, call 1-800-RENT-A-CAR; by internet, www.enterprise.com; or call your local Enterprise branch. Be sure to use our Preferred Customer Number — 57CE441 — to receive the proper benefit program. You can also go to www.lpscu.org and click on the link to Enterprise.

Enterprise has generously extended this program to all LPSCU employees/members for personal use, so if you have a family trip coming up, or want a luxury car for a special event, you can access this program for that as well.

If you have any questions about our program, please contact Allison Ottino at 570/829-3411.

A 2008 Christmas Message

Most Reverend Joseph V. Adamec
Bishop of Altoona-Johnstown
Episcopal Protector, Ladies Pennsylvania Slovak Catholic Union

“All who heard it were amazed by what had been told them by the shepherds. And Mary kept all these things, reflecting on them in her heart.” (Luke 2:18, 19)

Many times during her life did the Blessed Lady have an opportunity to reflect upon that moment when the Archangel Gabriel appeared to her and invited her to be the mother of the Savior. Just as many times, she may have wondered why things were happening the way that they were. One of those times must have been the day of her Son’s birth. If He was the Son of God, why was his coming taking place in a stable?

However, then came the shepherds, followed by the Magi. Both groups acknowledged the remarkable event that had taken place. The fact that it occurred in humble surroundings did not appear to matter to them.

We get into the “Christmas Spirit” rather readily during the season. Decorations, music, and the traditional activity help us do that. However, that was not the way that Jesus came. He came within the milieu of everyday, routine human life. And, if we search, as did the shepherds and the Magi, that is where we, too, will find the presence of our God.

The Christmas Season is a time to remember and to celebrate. It is also an opportunity to reflect and to refocus.

I take this opportunity to extend my Christmas Greetings to the officers and members of our Society, the Ladies Pennsylvania Slovak Catholic Union. May you be reminded throughout the New Year of Grace 2009 that the Lord our God came to be with you, within the very life that is yours, bringing you much peace and joy!

A BLESSED and MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Jesse Schafer Named NCFA ‘Fraternal MVP’

The National Fraternal Congress of America (NFCA), the trade association of America’s fraternal benefit societies, named Jesse M. Schafer, a member of LPCSU Branch 172, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, as a “Fraternal MVP” (Most Valuable Participant) for the week of September 22, 2008. Jesse, who is the recipient of our 2008 Anne (Shinal) Cichy Memorial Scholarship, had his name submitted by the LPCSU as a member best representing “the spirit of fraternalism and volunteerism.”

Fraternal MVPs are “fraternalists-in-action” who volunteer their time and energy to strengthen their communities through participation in local lodge activities and other charitable endeavors. In a news release, NFCA Board Chair Barbara A. Cheaney noted, “As a Fraternal MVP, Jesse Schafer embodies the heart of fraternalism through his hard work, dedication, and generosity.”

The Fraternal MVP designation is part of NFCA’s Fraternalists-in-Action Program, designed to remind the public and our elected officials how much good fraternalists accomplish throughout the country. We are proud that the NFCA represents 10 million fraternalists – like Jesse – who selflessly, humbly, and anonymously volunteer millions of hours and dollars to help their communities and fellow citizens.

Jesse’s outstanding accomplishments, which set him apart as our 2008 Anne (Shinal) Cichy Memorial Scholarship recipient, were featured in the July/August issue of Zornicka page 11.

The LPCSU congratulates Jesse M. Schafer on adding the title of “Fraternal MVP” to his list of accomplishments. We are proud to see him receive this distinct honor from the NFCA.

In Lithuania, preparation for Christmas Eve takes all day. The family must be thoroughly cleaned, all the bed linen must be changed, and all the members of the family must bathe and put on clean clothes before the evening meal. The dining table is carefully prepared. A handful of fine hay is evenly spread on the table as a reminder that Jesus was born in a stable. The table is then covered with a white cloth. Candles and fir boughs may adorn the table but live flowers such as poinsettias are considered inappropriate. A small plate with Christmas wafer is placed in the center of the table, one wafer for each person present.

All the members of the family make an effort to come home for the Christmas Eve supper. It is not just the meal, but also the sacred family ritual that draws Lithuanians home. If a family member has died during the year or cannot attend the Christmas Eve supper, an empty place is left at the table.

Long ago, the principal dish served was kucia, a mixture of various cooked grains, wheat, barley, oat, peas, and beans. It used to be eaten with honey diluted in warm boiled water. The word kucia means porridge of dried grain. Twelve different dishes are served on the table because Jesus had twelve apostles. These may include fish, mushrooms, boiled or baked potatoes, cranberry pudding, sauerkraut, and bread. All of the dishes are strictly meatless.

Everyone gathers at the table when the first star appears in the sky. After a prayer by the head of the family, the wafer are shared and greetings are exchanged, beginning with the father and mother. Then the food is eaten. It is essential to at least taste a bit of every offering as it is said that whoever skips a kucios dish will not survive until the next Christmas Eve.

Sisters of Saints Cyril and Methodius Begin Centennial Year

A Eucharistic Liturgy to open the 100th Anniversary Year of the Sisters of Saints Cyril and Methodius was held Sunday, September 14, 2008, at the Basilica of Saints Cyril and Methodius in Danville, Pennsylvania. Most Reverend Joseph V. Adamec, D.D., S.T.L., Bishop of Altoona-Johnstown, Pennsylvania, and Episcopal Protector of the LPSCU, was the principal celebrant. A reception in the Motherhouse dining room followed. Representing the LPSCU were National President Theresa Kluchinski and Vice President Anita Gregory.

Dear Junior Members,

Summer days have passed and now we are approaching winter. The temperatures are very cold compared to the warm days and nights we had just a few months ago.

Everything seems so full of life in the summertime. Animals and birds are everywhere. But even though you don’t see them, creatures are still very much alive in the dead of the winter. Those who cannot fly south for the warmth are here, hidden all around us, tucked away under Mother Nature’s coverings. You may think these animals are dead because they appear to be, but they are only in a deep sleep from which they will awaken when they feel the warmth of spring.

This special deep sleep is called hibernation. When an animal hibernates, its body temperature drops and its heartbeat and breathing slow down. Animals prepare for hibernation in the late summer and fall by eating extra food which their bodies store as fat. This body fat supplies them with nutrients while they are hibernating.

During the fall, a raccoon will fatten up on acorns, nuts and berries. By the end of its hibernation in the spring, the raccoon will have lost nearly half its weight. Raccoons hibernate in groups so they can share body warmth.

The raccoon’s hibernation is called “torpor.” When an animal is in torpor, its body slows down. Its heartbeat and temperature lower. It’s in a groggy state and doesn’t seem to hear or realize what’s going on around it. Torpor is not as deep a sleep as true hibernation, and so animals in torpor may wake up from time to time during the winter and may even go out to seek food. After they eat, they go back to their dens and go to sleep. Bears, badgers, skunks, chipmunks, and ground squirrels also experience torpor.

Other species have different ways of surviving the winter. Take, for instance, mourning cloak butterflies. They hide under the leaves or in the hollow of the tree. They are the very first butterflies that we see in the spring. The young survive the winter as pupae inside a covering called a chrysalis. In the spring, they develop into butterflies and break free of their chrysalises.

Water makes a good shelter for many animals. When the weather gets cold, the frogs, turtles, and many fish hide under rocks, logs, or fallen leaves. They become dormant. You will find them in colder ponds because cold water contains more oxygen than warm water.

A kind of catfish called a bullhead usually stops feeding in the autumn and wiggles itself down into the mud at the bottom of a river or pond. Even if the water is frozen, most bullheads are able to survive and become active when spring arrives.

Frogs also burrow into the soft muddy bottom of a pond or river. What little oxygen they need passes through their skin from the water. During the winter they freeze, but thaw out and wake up in the spring.

The garter snake seeks the shelter of an animal burrow or a rocky crevice. As the weather grows colder, dozens or even hundreds of snakes may gather into one den. Although they are cold-blooded reptiles, they will gather together like ball of twine, conserving the heat they need to survive.

Insects seek winter shelter in holes in the ground or under the bark of trees. Insects look for a swelling on a plant called a “gall.” This is formed by certain insects, fungi, or bacteria that produce a chemical that affects the plant’s growth, causing a lump to form. The gall becomes the insect’s home and also serves as a food source over the winter months.

Ladybugs gather together in great numbers in sheltered places. People collect them on the West Coast to sell to gardeners, since the beetles eat some insect pests. But ladybugs almost always fly for several miles after they “wake up” in the spring, so they don’t stay very long in a garden where they have been released.

Ants cluster together, sometimes more than a meter underground, in tunnels they have dug. They also spend the winter in stumps or decaying logs.

Bumblebees all die in the fall. Each young queen bee finds a sheltered place in the ground or in a tree hollow where she spends the winter. A bumblebee you see visiting early spring flowers is a young queen bee and she is gathering pollen and nectar from the flowers for food. She then lays eggs that will develop into worker bees, and this forms the beginning of a new colony.

Animals know when to hibernate because they have something in their blood called HIT (Hibernation Inducement Trigger). Scientists are studying this mystery to uncover more about what makes creatures hibernate, but shorter days and a scarcer food supply seem to be contributing factors.

TIN CAN ORNAMENTS

Make these easy ornaments to brighten up your tree! You will need tuna or sardine cans. Wash them thoroughly and when the cans are dry, paint them inside and out. To make them even prettier, sprinkle glitter inside and out while the paint is still slightly wet.

Next, create a pretty Christmas scene and put it inside the can. You can cut scenes from last year’s Christmas cards or holiday magazines. Sleighs, Christmas trees, and manger scenes look pretty. Use your imagination when decorating. You can even glue little Christmas figures (snowman, Santa, etc.) inside – get these from your local crafts store.

Paste yarn on the outside top of the can to make a hanging loop or ask Dad to drill a small hole that you can thread a loop of yarn through.

These cute ornaments make great gifts. Personalize them with a name or the year to create a special memento.
As Thanksgiving Day 2008 Approaches…

It may be a good time for all of us to reflect on how this uniquely American holiday came about. We all know that the 1621 settlers of Plymouth Colony are credited with beginning this traditional fall celebration. Although similar observances were held throughout the Colonies, the first recorded celebration to be held by proclamation was in Charleston, Massachusetts, on June 29, 1671.

The religious overtones of this holiday go back to its very beginnings and are no more evident than in the Proclamation for a national holiday signed by George Washington on October 3, 1789. Here are some excerpts from that document:

"WHEREAS it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His protection and favour; and whereas both Houses of Congress have, by their joint committee, requested me "to recommend the people of the United Stated a Day of PUBLICK THANKSGIVING AND PRAYER, to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many and signal favors of Almighty God especially by affording them an opportunity peaceably to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness.

"Now therefore, I do recommend and assign, THURSDAY, the TWENTY SIXTH DAY of November to be devoted by the people of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being who is the beneficent author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be: that we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks for His kind care and protection of the people of this country previous to their becoming a nation…for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed…and in general, for all the great and various favors which He has been pleased to confer upon us…

"GIVEN under my hand, at the city of New-York, the third day of October, the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine." — George Washington

Slovak Christmas

Slovaks around the world celebrate Christmas in their own special way, depending on the region or village they come from. The Christian celebration of Christmas is linked with the pagan feast marking the winter solstice. Ancient Slovak forefathers ascribed magical powers to this special time of the year. They believed that the rites would serve to protect the crops and cattle from harmful demons, ensure a good harvest, and above all, bring happiness in love and in family life in the coming year.

All this changed with the rise of Christianity which subordinated the pagan feast of the solstice and instead brought the feast of Christ to the church calendar on Christmas day, December 25th. Of course, these old traditions and beliefs didn’t disappear entirely and today many of our Christian traditions are entwined with beliefs and practices that were held over from pagan days.

Here’s the calendar today with a Christian twist:

November 11 – St. Martin’s Day, which in the agricultural calendar marks the beginning of the natural winter.

1:3). Darkness could not stand against the God of light and life. This antiphon expresses our longing for the Light of God, Jesus Christ, to come into our world to dispel the darkness of sin and death. We long for the light of Jesus to shine in the hearts of all people! The world may be shrouded in the darkness of sin and evil, but Jesus is the light for our lives and union with him can overcome the darkness.

6. “O King of all the nations, the only joy of every human heart; O Keystone of the mighty arch of man; Come and save the creature you have fashioned from the dust.” This antiphon expresses the realization that Jesus is the joy of every human heart for through him, we come to know the Father and the Father’s love for us. This antiphon also acknowledges that we are made from the very dust of the earth, yet despite our lowliness, God desires to come to us and fill us with his joy. This is the TRUE joy of Christmas — that Jesus comes to us to save us. This joy will find its ultimate fulfillment in our resurrection from the dead. We will experience resurrection, if we allow Jesus to rule our daily lives — our thoughts, words, actions and all our desires.

7. “O Emmanuel, King and Lawgiver, Desire of the Nations, Savior of all people; Come and set us free, Lord our God.” Christmas is, above all, the feast of Emmanuel — “God-with-us.” As we read in the Letter to the Hebrews, “Therefore Jesus had to be made like his brothers and sisters in every respect, so that he might become a merciful and faithful high priest in the service of God, to make expiation for the sins of the people.” (Hebrews 2:17). Jesus came to empower us to keep the commandments of God and to live holy and righteous lives. At Christmas, we are reminded that Jesus dwells with us to enable us to live authentic and fully human lives, freed from the power of sin.

On behalf of myself and the National Board of Directors of the Ladies Pennsylvania Slovak Catholic Union, we pray that this Christmas, you may experience a true journey of the heart which will lead to a renewal of spirit and a rekindling of love and friendship! May you have the silence to hear Christ’s quiet coming. May you have the peace to feel his love subtly stirring. And, may you have the joy to respond with hope renewed. This Christmas, and always, we wish you laughter, joy and a happy heart; warmth of love and good friends. We wish you Christ’s peace in your life and his many blessings! Merry Christmas!

Veselé Vianoce a šťastlivý Nový Rok!

Zornicka Welcomes Articles from Our Lithuanian Members

When the LPSCU welcomed the members of the Lithuanian Catholic Alliance into our organization several years ago, it was with the understanding that LCA members were afforded all the rights and privileges of LPSCU members. To that end, we’d like to remind all our Lithuanian members that they are most welcome to submit articles concerning Lithuanian customs, culture and heritage, as well as to share news about their families (members’ weddings, graduations, awards, births, etc.) with our readership. We strongly want to encourage our Lithuanian members to be a part of our fraternal family and one excellent way to do this is through the pages of our magazine. (Please be advised that articles that are political or editorial in content are not in keeping with the objectives and purposes of our magazine and are not acceptable, nor is copyrighted material unless proper permission for use has been granted.) Slovak Christmas from page 23

November 30 – St. Andrew’s Day. In some parts of Slovakia, an unmarried girl would write the names of potential husbands on pieces of paper, and stick these into halusky. When cooked, the first one to float to the surface of the water was said to reveal the name of her future husband.

December 6 – St. Nicholas Day, the traditional day for Slovaks to exchange gifts. On St. Nicholas Eve all the children carefully polish their shoes to leave on the windowsill or at the doorstep. In the morning they hope to find a nice surprise and not the dreaded coal!

December 24 – The Slovak words for Christmas Eve – Stedry Vecer – literally mean “bountiful eve” and the bounty of this sacred evening lies in the wide range of festive dishes, of which there must be 12 different kinds. Even today many Slovak families set their Christmas table with garlic, honey, wafers (oplakty), beans, dried fruit, and the main dish, cabbage soup with mushrooms and opekance – small pieces of dough with poppy seeds and honey. Fish is a more recent addition to the traditional Christmas Eve meal. (Their scales are said to bring wealth to the household.)

December 25 – Slovaks celebrate Christmas with music and singing. Carols are sung in the family circle, reminiscent of the tradition of carol singing from door to door. This was popular in the towns and villages in days past.
