Anthony C. Bucha

is LPSCU’s 2009 Youth Achievement Award Winner

Anthony C. Bucha, 17, is the recipient of this year’s LPSCU Youth Achievement Award. He was nominated for this honor by the officers of LPSCU Branch 38, Whitehall, Pennsylvania.

Anthony is a Senior at Allentown Central Catholic High School in Allentown, Pennsylvania. He is an outstanding student and is involved in Science Olympiad, Best Buddies, Central Catholic TV Broadcast, Retreat Outreach Team, and is president of the Ecology Club. His guidance counselor highly praised Anthony, reporting that “he is a tremendously motivated, dedicated, and responsible person.”

Anthony and his family are members of St. Joseph Church in Limeport, Pennsylvania. He has been an active altar server since fourth grade and still continues to serve. His pastor notes that Anthony exemplifies true leadership and organization, with sincerity and humility, and “he is of impeccable character, always polite and prayerful.”

As a member of Boy Scout Troop 301, Anthony has participated in many volunteer service projects to improve his community. For his Eagle Scout project, he transformed an unattractive and overgrown shrine into a lovely setting for prayer and contemplation on the grounds of the monastery of the Carmelite Sisters in Coopersburg, Pennsylvania. He was also elected by his scouting peers to be the Senior Patrol Leader, the highest ranking youth leadership position, and was responsible for planning and organizing the troop’s activities for nearly a year. Recently, Anthony became trained as an Assistant Scoutmaster, and is continuing to help younger Scouts progress through the ranks.

An active member of the LPSCU since early childhood, Anthony now participates in Join Hands Day and Make A Difference Day, as well as many social events. He and his two sisters, Mary and Ann, are members of LPSCU Branch 38, where their aunt, Cecilia Gaughan, is president and secretary. He is the son of Anthony and Jennie Bucha of Center Valley, Pennsylvania. His parents are members of LPSCU Branch 40 in Allentown.

The LPSCU is proud of Anthony’s outstanding accomplishments. He is a remarkable young man and most deserving of the 2009 LPSCU Youth Achievement Award. We congratulate Anthony and wish him continued success in his future endeavors.

On Sunday, May 31, 2009, the Church celebrates the Solemnity of Pentecost, the birthday of the Church. It is interesting to note that in the proclamation of readings from Sacred Scripture, two different versions of the Pentecost event are given. One account is from the Acts of the Apostles and the other account is from the Gospel of John.

The First Reading of Pentecost is taken from Acts 2: 1-11. According to Saint Luke, there are fifty days which separate Resurrection day from the Coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. In this reading we hear the story of the Apostles, Mary the Mother of Jesus, and others gathered together in a room, in Jerusalem, after Jesus has returned to the Father. It is in the context of their prayer and deliberations that the Holy Spirit makes a dramatic appearance through tongues of fire above the heads of each person in the room, the strong driving wind and the shaking of the house. Following the descent of the Holy Spirit, the Apostles emerge, preaching the message of Jesus, the Crucified and Risen Savior.

The Gospel Proclamation of Pentecost is taken from John 20: 19-23. In the Gospel of John, the Résurrection of Jesus and Pentecost occur on the same day, Easter Sunday. In this reading, we hear how, on Easter Sunday evening, Jesus appeared to his apostles who were hiding behind locked doors. After he greets them twice with, “Peace,” Jesus breathes on them. It is through this gesture that he bestows the Holy Spirit upon them. As he breathes on them, he says, “Receive the Holy Spirit.”

Though details — especially in regard to timing — are different in both stories, there are two particular details that are quite similar. The first common detail has the apostles gathering behind locked doors. Both stories are set in the same place: a room in which Jesus’ followers have shut themselves off. In both cases, the friends of Jesus gather in Jerusalem. They seem alone, afraid, confused, and lost. They have no idea what to do next. They worry that the same fate that befell Jesus might happen to them if they are found and arrested.

In both cases, there is another important detail that is common: the Spirit of God blows within their barricaded room. In Luke’s version, like a great wind, the Spirit drives them out of their safe place to begin the work of proclaiming the Gospel of the Risen One. In John’s Gospel, the Spirit, the very breath of God, transforms their fear into purpose, their despair into direction, and their disgrace and guilt into peace. The Spirit of God compels the disciples of Jesus to break out of their safe gathering place and be about the work of proclaiming the Kingdom of God.

It’s safe to say that oftentimes we can find ourselves locked in that same room, struggling to find Easter peace, trying to find Pentecost direction and purpose. The same Spirit of God drives us from our comfortable places and safe isolation in order that we might do the work of Jesus. The Holy Spirit empowers us to put aside our fears, our doubts, our inadequacies, to be authentic instruments of peace and reconciliation in our own time. The Hebrew word for spirit is “ruah.” This word refers not just to a movement of air, not only as wind; it also describes life-giving breath. It is the “ruah” or breath of God that transforms us and re-creates us.

In order to help move us out of our “safe places” and faithfully accomplish the work of the Gospel, we have been given the Seven Gifts of the Holy Spirit. Let us briefly examine these gifts.

1. Wisdom. Wisdom is the spiritual gift that enables each of us to know the purpose and plan of God. The gift of Wisdom has little to do with intellectual comprehension; rather, it is a practical recognition of one’s limits and possibilities. Having gained this recognition, wisdom gives us perspective on how to see things with God’s eyes and to live according to God’s will.

2. Understanding. This gift helps us to “stand under” or “get to the bottom of things” in regard to our faith. Through this gift, we accept the revelation of God and attempt to discern its significance for our lives. Sometimes, in order to understand how to use a gift — a new DVD player or automatic coffeepot — we have to read the directions. God’s gift of Easter life comes with directions: the Sacred Scriptures and the Sacraments of the Church. Prayerful reading of the Bible and worthy reception of the Sacraments helps us to better understand God’s plan and to get to the bottom of how we are to give our lives over to God’s service.

3. Right Judgment (Counsel). Decisions, decisions, decisions. From the time we get up in the morning, to the time we go to bed at night, we make many choices. This gift assists us in making good choices, to make God’s choices. Oftentimes, our decisions are based solely on personal gain or personal gratification. But, use of this gift opens us up to receive God’s advice or counsel on how to make choices that take us outside ourselves. Ultimately, all our personal choices should be made in light of the fact that someday we must stand before God in Final Judgment. We will be judged on how we lived and loved; on how we made good, healthy choices.

4. Courage (Fortitude). The word courage is derived from the Latin word “cor” (heart). Courage is the gift that enables us to face danger and overcome fear with confidence. The gift of courage allows us to see where our real strength lies: God is our strength. The courageous person refuses to be limited by his or her own concerns and desires for well-being continued on page 20

LEHIGH VALLEY OKRES

The Lehigh Valley Okres held its annual Holiday Luncheon on Sunday, December 14, 2008, in the Lehigh Room of the Best Western Lehigh Valley Conference Center in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. A punch reception commenced at noon, followed by the luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Jean Kosalko, president of the Lehigh Valley Okres, extended a warm welcome to all present and offered a prayer before the meal. Sixty-five Okres members and guests attended. Members brought donations for “Toys for Tots” which will be picked up by the Marines for distribution to needy children.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, President Kosalko introduced the Okres officers, Secretary Mary Shannon and Treasurer Margaret A. Ferri (who also serves as National Public Relations Director), as well as National Fraternal Activities Director Cecilia B. Gaughan and Honorary Vice President Mary Ann Ackerman. She also introduced the officers of Allentown Branch 38/40, Bethlehem Branch 83/130, and Hellertown Branch 196.

As the members were singing Christmas carols, everyone was surprised to see Santa Claus (in the person of Jim Shannon of Northampton, Pennsylvania) enter the room ringing his sleigh bells. Though the children were excited to see him and to receive the gifts he brought, Santa took his time to greet each attendee personally. He extended a warm welcome to special guests Margita Klempava and her son, Jan Klempa, from Zavod, Slovakia, wishing them a pleasant vacation with their cousin, Valeria Lukish of Whitehall, Pennsylvania. President Kosalko presented the visitors with a beautiful poinsettia plant. Margita and Jan responded by wishing everyone a blessed Christmas and a happy and holy New Year.

The children gathered around Santa and he presented each with a gift: a musical nutcracker to the boys, a sterling silver necklace to the girls, and a plush bear to the infants. Each child also received a candy cane filled with M&Ms and as a favor, each attendee received a pack of chocolate bell candies.

Holiday prizes were chanced off and special prizes in the annual raffle were won by a number of the attendees.

The Rev. Dianiska District held its first meeting of 2009 on Sunday, March 8, at St. Mary’s Church of the Immaculate Conception hall in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. Theresa Kluchinski welcomed everyone on behalf of host Branches 6 and 48.

The meeting was called to order by District President Mary Ann Ewasko. She lead the members in prayers for ill members of our District, in particular our Financial Secretary, Marge Zinkavich, and Msgr. Beeda, and in remembrance of deceased members John Tirpak and Alice Waskey. The Pledge of Allegiance followed.

Vice President Hope Napkora read the roll call. Barbara Kalish and Debbie Adamchak gave the Secretary’s and Treasurer’s reports, respectively; both reports were approved. Barbara Kalish read correspondence and reported that the District received thank you notes from the following: Board members for the gifts they received at the anniversary brunch; Father Phil Altavilla from the brunch and the Christmas party; Matthew Tirpak for the monetary gift; Candy’s Place for the monetary gift; Ruth’s Place House of Hope for donations; and St. Vincent DePaul for socks and other donations from Make a Difference Day.

In January a get well Mass card was sent to Monsignor Francis J. Beeda. At this meeting, all members present signed a get well greeting card to be sent to him.

Dear Theresa and Members of the LPSCU Board:

Youngstown Sister Cities, Incorporated, would like to thank you for the $350 donation that was given to us as a result of your July Convention. I apologize for the lateness of this letter but we were out West in October for three weeks... Came home and found my brother, Steve Bacon, was in intensive care (he is home now but on oxygen and dialysis), then the holidays, etc., so all my volunteer work has piled up.

Be assured that we are deeply grateful for the donation which we used to pay for the airfares of our high school exchange students. We have a student from the Czech Republic and one from Slovakia studying in the United States this year. We also have a student from Salem, Ohio, studying in our sister city of Spisska Nova Ves, Slovakia. We had the two students as our guests at the Vilija Dinner in December and also presented them with a monetary award.

Thank you again for your support. I sent a photo of the Board and exchange students taken at the Vilija dinner to Margaret and included a note in the article that the students’ airfare was partially paid by the LPSCU donation.

Have a great 2009!

Bernadette J. Demechko
Secretary
Youngstown Sister Cities

Dear National Officers and Members:

It was a most pleasant surprise to receive your kind message and very generous gift of $250.00 in the mail. Needless to say, we are most grateful.

Your support of our ministry is most encouraging. It indicates the respect you have for Slovak faith and culture. It is important that we appreciate our roots and help others to do the same. When next you visit the Library and Slovak Museum, we hope you will be pleasantly surprised at some of the improvements that have been made, primarily because of the generosity of good people, particularly those in our fraternal societies.

As always, we thank God for your kindness and generosity and remind Him of your personal and corporate needs. May you be abundantly blessed.

Very sincerely yours in Christ,

Sister M. John Vianney Vranak, SS.C.M.
Director, Jankola Library

Dear Ms. Ferri:

Thank you so much for the extra copy of the November/December 2008 edition of Zornicka. I truly appreciate it. Also, thank you for printing the story of my daughter’s Confirmation and for the return of the picture. Your organization is truly top-notch!

Happy Holidays and thanks again.

LPSCU Partners with Enterprise Rent-A-Car

The LPSCU is pleased to announce a preferred partnership with the largest car rental company, Enterprise Rent-A-Car! With more than 6,500 locations throughout the U.S., Enterprise is truly a neighborhood company and is within approximately 15 minutes of 90% of the U.S. population, making them an obvious choice for us for local rental needs. LPSCU employees/members will receive contracted rates at all non-airport Enterprise locations in Northeast and Central Pennsylvania. In addition to becoming our primary home city vendor, Enterprise will serve as our secondary airport vendor. Enterprise has agreed to provide us with free pick up and return service (delivery where available) at the start and end of all our rentals.

The Enterprise rental program was designed to give the LPSCU an alternative to employees/members utilizing their personal vehicles for travel for personal and/or business purposes. Using a rental vehicle can be less expensive than reimbursing per mile. In addition to cost and liability savings, our employees/members will have the peace of mind of a 24-hour roadside assistance program, newer model vehicles with current safety features, and the ability to rent from a convenient neighborhood location rather than depreciating their personal vehicle. In addition, this program can be utilized when your vehicle is in for repairs.

There are many ways to make reservations for an Enterprise vehicle. By phone, call 1-800-RENT-A-CAR; by internet, www.enterprise.com; or call your local Enterprise branch. Be sure to use our Preferred Customer Number — 57CE441 — to receive the proper benefit program. You can also go to www.lpscu.org and click on the link to Enterprise.

Enterprise has generously extended this program to all LPSCU employees/members for personal use, so if you have a family trip coming up, or want a luxury car for a special event, you can access this program for that as well.

If you have any questions about our program, please contact Allison Ottino at 570/829-3411.

Honorary Consuls Meet

All 12 Slovak Honorary Consuls in the United States recently held a conference at the Slovak Embassy in Washington, D.C. The two-day session included speakers from the U.S. Commerce Department, Slovak Ministry of Economy, Slovak Commercial and Economic Section from New York, U.S. Department for Homeland Security, and several staff members from the Slovak Embassy. The Consuls were informed how to better represent Slovakia in the fields of culture, education, and economy.

Slovak Ambassador Peter Burian also held a reception for the group at his residence in McLean, Virginia. The reception included a meeting with the Executive Committee of Friends of Slovakia to discuss areas of expanded cooperation. It was agreed that FOS would keep the Consuls informed of their Washington, D.C. events, including programs with Washington think tanks that might be viewed on the internet in order to make their activities more accessible to actual and potential Friends of Slovakia across the country. The Consuls were also briefed on the wide range of FOS activities including the Slovak Scholars program, the availability of bronze plaques on the FOS Wall of Honor, and plans for participation with the Slovak Embassy in celebrating the 20th anniversary of the Velvet Revolution in November.
What a concert! On Sunday, November 23, 2008, PAS (the Pittsburgh Area Slovak Folk Ensemble), treated its audience to a fabulous and very unique performance at the Antonian Theatre at Pittsburgh’s Carlow University. The enthusiastic crowd would concur that the troupe put on quite a show of traditional songs and dances that was both entertaining and educational.

The concert centered on the theme of the Drotár, or tinker. As noted in the concert program, many Slovak staré baby (old grandmothers) remembered when the tinkers used to visit their villages and would announce their arrival with the words: “Hrce misky, drotováv!” (Pots and bowls to tinker).

A tinker was a common occupation of men in Slovakia during the early modern era of European history. The PAS portrayal of the life of the drotár dated from the 18th century, the time of Maria Teresa, the beloved Empress of Austria and Queen of Hungary.

Many of these tinkers came from the relatively poor areas of Kysuce and Trenčín in northwest Slovakia. Because times were tough in their homeland, these Slovak tinkers sought work not only in Slovakia and other parts of Hungary, but throughout Europe. They traveled from place to place, carrying everything they needed in a knapsack-like toolbox on their backs. They repaired items with wire, and mended dishes and other ceramic and tin objects. The tinkers also sold objects made of tin and wire such as pots and pans, whiskis, sieves, strainers, trays, ladles, skewers, cake and cookie tins, cutters, trivets, mousetraps, and other useful household goods. The drotár was also a source of information about distant places, often sharing interesting and exciting stories, some of which no doubt may have been exaggerated to create a good tale.

Slovaks considered the occupation of drotár to be a worthy one, and their special skills were usually passed down the generations, from father (otec) and grandfather (dedo) to sons and grandsons. Fathers and sons often worked or even traveled together.

The concert program noted the special custom associated with the birth of a son to a family of tinkers. The family put the newborn infant on a “long-handled board,” and then put the baby through an open window of the home. The family anti-

Eastern Slovak dance. It included men’s slapping dance (čapaš), a czeďaš, and a kručena, a whirling dance.

The dances were a prelude to a traditional wedding ceremony, one of the most important of customs that cemented family life in Slovakia. The portrayal included the moving scene where the bride and groom knelt before their parents to bid their farewells and ask forgiveness for any transgressions they had committed. The climax of the ceremony was the parta, when the ladies of the family remove the bride’s elaborately decorated headdress and replace it with the čepč (a matron’s bonnet). The traditional bridal dance (Redovy) followed, with all who dance with the bride throwing in a coin to help the young couple get started in life.

The final act portrayed the celebration of the birth of the child Joseph II to Maria Teresa. First, PAS performed several lively dances from the Detva region of central Slovakia (where the troupe will be performing this summer). The child’s birth was announced, and a great cheer of joy echoed. Then the drotári (tinkers) presented the newborn with the gift of a heart made of wire, and the Queen declared that henceforth, all tinkers would be free of any form of serfdom.

The program concluded with an array of dances of jubilation, folk songs, and the always popular Zbojnický Odezmov (The Robbers’ Leaping Dance, famous from the time of the Slovak Robin Hood, Juraj Jánošík), which featured a dance with the long-handled wooden axe known as a valaška.

Many LPSCU members from the Pittsburgh area were among those enjoying the concert.

The performance ended in a storm of well-deserved applause. PAS chose to stage this wonderful drama to celebrate its 35th year as one of Pittsburgh’s premier ethnic song and dance groups. PAS owes much of its success to the devoted work of all its members and their families, and especially John and Angela Lipchick, who direct the ensemble.

With its performance of Drotár, PAS hoped to raise some money to help fund its 2009 trip to Detva, Slovakia, where they will perform with some of the best folk groups from across the country. Despite making some progress through fundraisers over the last few months, the group still needs donations to help make their trip to Slovakia possible. Anyone interested in supporting this deserving cause may send a check to help defray expenses.

Please send your donations to: PAS Folk Ensemble, 1254 Old Concord Road, Monroeville, PA 15146 (telephone 412/373-3873). For more information about PAS, visit their website at www.pasfolkensemble.weebly.com.

Michael J. Kopanic, Jr., Ph.D.
Dear Junior Members,

Have you ever wondered what happened to the dinosaurs? They were the dominant land animal for over 150 million years and then, about 65 million years ago, they just disappeared, leaving behind only their fossilized remains. Although many plants and animals have disappeared over the years, the dinosaur is the best known. Scientists have long sought to discover why these creatures became extinct.

One widely held theory is that an asteroid or meteorite – a large rock from outer space – hit the earth during the time of the dinosaurs. It was so large and its impact was so great that it affected the earth in numerous ways that would eventually doom the dinosaur. The asteroid’s impact was many times more powerful than the eruption of an ordinary volcano. It threw a column of dust high up into the stratosphere. This dust cloud was so thick that it darkened the whole earth for many months. Because of this, plants could not get the light they needed to grow and they began to die. This affected the plant-eating dinosaurs because it destroyed their food supply. As they began to starve to death, it affected the carnivorous or meat-eating dinosaurs because their food supply was dying off. The dust cloud also blocked the warming rays of the sun, so the planet began to get much colder. The scientists believe that the dinosaurs could not survive this double blow of a lack of food and warmth. One thing is certain – Whatever caused the death of the dinosaurs was truly catastrophic because it also caused the death of around 70% of all of the species on the earth at that time.

Geologists, scientists who study rocks, can tell the age of rocks partly because of the fossils they contain. These fossils are the hard parts of a living organism – bones, teeth, shells, wood – that are often preserved after the organism dies. To be preserved, an organism must be in an environment where it is protected from oxidation and bacterial decay. Fossils are most readily preserved in environments covered by water such as tar pits, swamps, and deep lakes. In its rocks, the earth holds a billion year record of its history.

A site exists in Italy where layers of exposed rocks record the history of the earth. Beginning with rocks that once lay upon the floor of the ocean, layer upon layer exposes fossils from the various eras of time. But suddenly, the fossils disappear and layers of clay are exposed. This clay was a clue to what caused the mass extinctions. There are no special chemicals in the clay, but small traces of iridium were found. This metal is very rare and is found only in rocks that fall as meteorites, from outer space. This added credence to the scientists’ theory that an asteroid or meteorite impacted the earth and caused the extinction of the dinosaurs.

Although dinosaur remains have been around for millions of years, people knew very little about these extraordinary creatures until the 1800s. One of the first people to discover dinosaur remains was Dr. Gideon Mantell, a British physician and natural historian. He is credited with discovering the first fossils identified as originating from a dinosaur, which were teeth belonging to an Iguanodon, a large, bulky plant-eating dinosaur. Another British scientist named Sir Richard Owen is credited with naming the creatures “dinosaurs,” meaning “terrible lizards.” Thus began the science of palentology, the study of the forms of life existing in prehistoric or geologic times, as represented by the fossils of plants, animals, and other organisms.

The detective work will keep on going and in time the clues will fit together and we may be able to find out exactly what happened to our earth 65 million years ago. It is hard to believe the earth has been around that long!

Kids in the Kitchen

MAKE MOM A MEAL!

Hey kids, Mother’s Day is May 10th. What are you going to do about it? I have a great idea. How about cooking Mom a meal? With a little help from Dad or Grandma and Pop-pop, you can surprise Mom (and the rest of the family) with a special Mother’s Day dinner. Talk to Dad or someone older and ask them to buy you a 5-6 lb. roasting chicken. Remove the wrapping and wash the chicken. Following the directions on the wrapping, put the chicken in a roasting bag or roasting tin along with baby carrots, potatoes, and some seasoning. While the chicken cooks, you can set the table and make a salad and some Jell-O for dessert. Won’t Mom be surprised when you treat her to this special dinner on her special day!

A “HERO” FOR YOUR HERO

On Father’s Day, June 21st, let’s salute Dad with a special sandwich. Depending on where you live in the country, it’s called a grinder, a sub (for its submarine shape), or a hoagie. Basically it’s a sandwich stuffed with cold cuts and cheese. It’s also called by another popular name: a hero sandwich. And that’s perfect because, after all, Dad is our hero!

This is what you’ll need: Cut a small loaf of French bread or a long French roll in half, lengthwise. Spread on mayonnaise or mustard. Layer on slices of ham, salami, and cheese (Provolone, Swiss, or American). Top with shredded lettuce and sliced tomatoes. Add onions, pickles, olives, and or hot peppers. Drizzle with Italian salad dressing. Serve with potato or corn chips and a cold glass of lemonade or iced tea. Dad should really enjoy this “hero” sandwich made especially for him.
Dinosaur Trivia

- Dinosaurs did not live in the sea as the dolphins and whales do. They waded into the water and swam out into the sea for short distances, as horses can.
- Over 50 different species of dinosaurs have been found in Wyoming.
- The biggest dinosaurs were gigantic, slow-moving, tiny-headed, cow-like plant-eaters (sauropods) from the late Jurassic and the Cretaceous period. They were estimated to have had a life-span of about 100 years.
- One of the biggest dinosaurs is the Seismosaurus (size-mo-saw-rus). This monster measured over 120 feet long and weighed 30 to 80 tons! Seismosaurus fossils have been found in New Mexico.
- The Tyrannosaurus Rex was a fierce, meat-eating dinosaur. He walked on huge, powerful legs but his arms were only 3 feet long. His long pointed tail provided balance and allowed for quick turns while he chased down prey. T. rex could eat up to 500 pounds of meat and bone in one bite!
- The earliest known dinosaurs are from the Triassic period, and are about 230 million years old. They were relatively small.
- In spite of their tremendous size, no dinosaurs were as large as Blue whales, which are the biggest creatures ever to have lived on earth. At nearly 200 tons, they weigh more than a DC-10 commercial airliner!

Memorial Day

Memorials keep memories alive. They remind us of special people or events. Memorial Day honors the memory of the men and women who lost their lives while serving our country. It is celebrated on the last Monday in May.

Memorial Day is also known as Decoration Day, because graves of the dead are traditionally decorated with flowers and flags. Veterans' groups, often with the help of children, still decorate gravesites in cemeteries around the world. In this country, there are often parades, patriotic speeches, and church services on Memorial Day. Military honor guards fire 21-gun salutes and buglers play “Taps.”

In 2000, President Clinton and the U.S. Congress urged Americans to put “memorial” back into Memorial Day by participating in a National Moment of Remembrance. At 3 p.m. local time on Memorial Day, Americans everywhere are encouraged to pause for one minute to pay tribute to our fallen heroes. We ask that “Taps” be played on the radio and television stations and that those who are driving turn on their headlights.

We need to reclaim this national holiday as a day to honor and remember those young men and women who have left us too soon. We mourn their deaths and we are ever so grateful that we have such heroes.

Helping Wildlife

It’s that time of the year. You’ll be out walking or riding in the car and you may see an injured bird or animal as you pass by. What should you do?

Animal experts offer these tips:

- Be patient. If you think the animal is abandoned, stay away from it and observe. The parent may return.
- It’s okay to put a small, featherless baby bird back into its nest if it appears uninjured. A young bird with feathers is a fledgling. You may see them perched on the ground or on a branch. Most likely the parent is nearby watching. Do nothing unless the fledgling appears to be in some type of danger.
- Baby rabbits begin to leave the nest and explore at about a month old. They are capable of feeding themselves at this point, even though they look very small. When a baby bunny is the size of your palm, he is ready to be on his own, unless he is obviously injured or sick.

Opossums “play dead” when they are frightened, and they are very convincing. Should you find an “unconscious” possum in your garage or garbage can, leave the garage door open, or gently tip the can on its side. Leave the area for a few hours, and most likely the opossum will leave too.

Be aware: Injured wild animals are frightened and will use their defenses such as scratching and biting. Your safety is primary. Ask for an adult’s help to notify the Game Commission. They have the skills and knowledge to handle an injured animal.

Never approach raccoons, foxes, groundhogs, bats, or skunks as these mammals can carry rabies. Call the Game Commission right away if you see these animals behaving strangely, or if they seem to be unafraid to approach you.

Don’t handle an injured animal more than necessary. They can become overly stressed and go into shock, making the chances of saving them more difficult.

A good rule to remember is if something is difficult for you to catch, it probably does not need your help.

Bicycle Bits

- America’s first bicycle company, Pope Bicycle, was established in 1877.
- There are over 99 million bicyclists in the United States and of these 44 million are kids under the age of 16.
- In China, bikes are the main mode of transportation. For every car, there are 250 bicycles.
- The longest tandem “bicycle built for two” was one that was actually built for 35. The record breaking bike is 66 feet, 11 inches long.
- Half of the parts of a typical bicycle are found in the chain.
The Breath of God

5. Knowledge. When we speak of knowledge today, we generally refer to the comprehension of facts through the use of our mind and intellect. From the faith perspective, to speak of knowledge is to speak of personal experience and of the acceptance and action that develops from that experience. To know God is to experience God personally, to acknowledge him as God and to respond to God’s call to do justice and to defend those who cannot defend themselves — the unborn, the elderly, the sick, the needy, and the poor. Knowledge helps us know which things are important and which things are not. It is the knowledge of God — not knowledge of facts or opinion — that is the Spirit’s gift.

6. Reverence (Piety). This refers to the love that one has for God and to the loyal respect shown to God. This love and loyalty are manifested not simply by mechanically fulfilling one’s religious obligations; rather, they are shown through our real love and concern for others. Reverence demands that we remember who is in charge — God — and that we are servants of God.

7. Wonder and Awe in God’s Presence (Fear of the Lord). Unfortunately, to some, use of the word “fear” refers to that state produced in mind and body by some threatening situation. Fear, then, is normally understood as an unpleasant emotion brought about by one’s anticipation or awareness of danger. To people of faith, “fear of the Lord” is more akin to “awe” — recognition of the majesty of God and our dependence on God. To fear the Lord, to stand in wonder and awe in God’s presence, means that we acknowledge God’s greatness and offer him our humble, reverent service.

These special gifts describe the Spirit-filled life to which we Christians are called, thanks to our Baptism. But, like so many gifts, the gifts of the Spirit bring with them a task. The gifts are given as potentialities and are brought to their fulfillment through a lifetime of development and use. In the development of these gifts both the individual Christian and the greater community are enriched. The Breath of God, the Spirit of God, enables us to recreate our world in the love of the God who loved us enough to become one of us, to die for us and to rise for us!
